Calabretta is one of the superstars on the island of Sicily. Its location is 750 meters of elevation on Sicily's Mount Etna. This elevation delivers hot Mediterranean sun and warm breezes. The considerable variations in day and night time temperatures cause a complexity of flavours.

Sicily's Mount Etna region has an ancient wine making culture. Recently Jancis Robinson asked in the financial times, "Is Etna the Burgundy of the Mediterranean?" Today few adhere to the ancient practices, but one great estate, Calabretta continues to make majestic reds.

Cala Cala Vino Rosso on the nose produces leather with nuances of tea and flowers. Full body with amazing acidity, red fruit, cherry, and spices.
