Vinosia is a young project founded by Luciano Ercolino, whose family founded Feudi di San Gregorio. In 2003, Luciano set out to make their own wines and founded Vinosia, which roughly translates as 'a new place of wine'. The winery is located in the township of Paternopoli, 5km from Taurasi, in a village called Luogosano (meaning 'healthy place'), in the Irpinia region of Campania. It is indeed not by chance that its green, thickly forested mountains gained Irpinia the nickname of 'Switzerland of Southern Europe'

A remarkably polished summer wine made with 100% Aglianico grapes. Great elegance and style with raspberry and strawberry fruit notes. Drink chilled on its own or as a summer "food wine" that pairs with many dishes. Fragrance of a white with the rich soul of a red made from Aglianico grapes. A great alternative to Rose wines.
